

Skyrocket your Success using the science of body language & human connection.

Learn the one skill all top professionals and leaders use to win more clients, enchant audiences & supercharge their communities.

Understanding the language of non-verbal communication is the key to...

- building connection and trust.
- influencing your peers.
- engaging your colleagues and clients.
- delivering memorable presentations.
- shaping how the world sees you.

We're all walking around with speech bubbles over our heads. What is yours saying about you?

"Kristin's content was highly customized and delivered in an engaging way through her fun personality, unique slides and self-quizzes. Most importantly, the content was actionable."

Alexis Bornstein - Director of Talent at Blank Rome Law Firm

Keynote Presentation

Avoiding Cue-lessness:

How to Shout, "I'm a Great Leader!!" Without Saying a Word

The best leaders aren't necessarily the ones people follow blindly. They're the ones people follow willingly and eagerly. They're the people who understand how personal connection stems not simply from the words we say, but from the physical and emotional cues we display!

In this engaging keynote, your audience will laugh, (possibly gasp) and learn exactly why they need to know what their bodies are saying even when their mouths stop moving.

With an ear and eye-catching experience, audiences will learn:

- Survival of the best communicators is less about words and more about how you make others feel (spoiler alert, it involves nonverbal cues!)
- Success is truly for master communicators who use both their mouths and body to convey connection.
- The brain science of why human connection matters
- The key factor to making connections memorable (hello there, charisma!)
- Why the secrets of understanding body language allows you to supercharge your clients (& make more $$$)

It's time to learn why everyone, especially those in leadership, can't afford to be cue-less.
